SATRO CONSTRUCTION

Vocational Construction Skills Training

SATRO's Vocational Construction Skills Classrooms bring fully equipped construction workshops directly into schools, giving students hands-on experience in practical trade skills such as joinery, plumbing, electrics, carpentry and bricklaying. A team of 8 experienced industry tutors deliver engaging sessions that build technical, employability and career skills while supporting progression into further education, apprenticeships and construction careers in schools across Surrey, Berkshire, North East Hampshire and SW London.

How you can help the next generation

Volunteers from the construction industry are key to engaging and inspiring the students. We are keen for you to share your knowledge with students, helping them understand some of the pathways open to them after school and giving them a better insight into what it's like to work in the construction industry.

How the session will work:

Classes are typically 8 students in Year 10 (ages 14 - 15 years old)

INTRODUCTION

A short presentation about your company, career and your current role. Pictures/tools to help bring it alive.

SKILLS

Include some of the skills that are valued in your industry.

SUPPORT

The students need to complete a progression plan. Talking to them individually about what they want to achieve and helping them identify some of their own skills and personal attributes would be great.

DETAILS

VENUE: In a classroom, we will match you to a location and time that works for you.

AREA: Surrey and the surrounding counties

TIMES: Each session would typically be an hour

DATES: December 2026 and January 2027

Make a difference

Sharing your time, knowledge and expertise will help us to support these students to become work ready - helping them identify the skills they need, get inspired about the construction industry and help motivate them and give them the confidence to plan their next steps.
