

STEM Tutor (to £30,000+ based on experience)

Inspire the next generation to solve tomorrow's problems!

The generation in education today have a greater understanding of their role as a global citizen and are acutely aware of the problems that face our planet in the years to come. Whether that be climate change, a health pandemic, sustainable living or fairness and equality in our society. They will inherit some of the greatest challenges of our time. SATRO's aim is to provide them with the curiosity to develop the knowledge and skills they will require for their future.

We are looking for STEM tutors and trainees to deliver a full range of workshops, cross-school challenges and events. Do you have:

- ❖ Practical experience of STEM subjects & work in educational settings or youth group
- ❖ A passion to pass on your skills to young people and help them succeed in life
- ❖ Relevant teaching experience and/or qualifications
- ❖ An ability to tailor teaching styles to differing ability groups at key stages 2-5
- ❖ Excellent communication skills & rapport with young people
- ❖ Ability to work on your own to deliver a workshop and with corporate volunteers
- ❖ Enthusiasm to support the development of new materials, workshops and events
- ❖ A full driving license – the role will require regular travel to schools
- ❖ The role will require a DBS check and references
- ❖ Term time and family friendly part-time working available

SATRO is a long-established educational charity working across the South East of England. We work in schools with young people between the ages of 7-18 of all abilities. Our aim is to extend learning beyond the curriculum to: inspire an understanding of the world we live in and the technology we use, challenge perceptions of the world of work and career pathways and develop key skills for jobs of the future.
